BAND COMMITTEE MEETS

An organizational meeting of the Mattapoisett Band Committee met at the Town Hall this past week. Mrs. Louis Corey,
Jr. was voted secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Alden S. Kinney was voted to take charge of publicity. Members of the committee were all in favor of inviting, to the next scheduled meeting, someone who may have served on any bandstand building committee of a neighboring town.

Attending this initial meeting were the persons appointed by the Board of Selectmen and officiating was Mr. Paul H.

Alves, chairman. The committee's function is to act upon matters that concern the Town Band. Under the direction of Mr. John R. Pandolfi, the band has contributed much enjoyment to many during the summer months. These outdoor concerts are held at Shipyard Park, by the town wharves, and have been a tradition for many generations. It receives support from the town.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM ORRHS WILL GO TO WASHINGTON

Mr. Frank P. Gifune, Jr., principal of the Old Rochester Regional High School, is pleased to announce that Old Rochester has been chosen by "A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans" to send a representative from the high school to Washington, D..C. to participate in this program.

There was an overwhelming response to this invitation and many applying schools were eliminated. This is a great honor for Old Rochester since it was one out of 350 schools chosen. Mr. James A. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence of Rochester, and a senior at the high school, after writing a paper supporting his being chosen was selected by a committee to represent Old Rochester Regional High School in Washington.

Mr. Lawrence will be in Washington from March 14 to March 21, 1970. The purpose of this program is to give high school sen-

New Stamp Announced

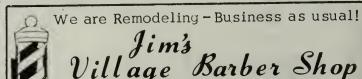

STAMP TO HONOR ANNIVERSARY OF LAND OF THE PILGRIMS

A special commemorative 6¢ stamp, honoring the 350th anniversary of the Pilgrims landing in the New World, will be issued next year by the Post Office, according to Congressman Hastings Keith.

Keith, who represents both Provincetown and Plymouth--the two sites where the Pilgrims landed--was informed of the planned stamp through a personal letter from Postmaster-General Winton Blount.

"This is extraordinarily good news," said the Congressman. "They normally issue only a very few such stamps in any year. I am especially pleased that the Plymouth-Provincetown celebration is being honored in this manner.

"Issuance of this stamp," he continued, "will add a special significance to the celebrations being planned in Plymouth and Provincetown next year."

So far, the Post Office has no definite plans regarding design, or date and place of issuance. However, Keith has asked that Plymouth be authorized as the place for first-day sales.

Keith noted that commemorative stamps are not issued for the anniversaries of cities, towns, or schools, since so many reach significant anniversaries every year. "The landing of the Pilgrims," he said, "is symbolic of the settling of the United States, and is of significance to the entire nation, not just the Plymouth region."

The decision on issuing a Commemorative Stamp is made by the Postmaster General, on the recommendations of a Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee. Only events of widespread national appeal and significance are considered as subjects.

The first commemorative stamp was issued on the occasion of the Columbian Exposition in 1893. Since then, less than 600 such stamps have been issued.

"Much of the credit for gaining approval of this stamp must go to the scores of individuals, from this area and across the country, who wrote to the Postmaster-General urging him to approve this proposal.

In particular, the Society of Mayflower Descendants and the 350th Anniversary Committee were instrumental in demonstrating the widespread interest in commemorating this event.

THUGS "INNOCENT" - Editorial

We notice that the courts have once again functioned to "protect the rights" of the thief confronted by justice. The two men caught in the act of stealing drugs at Tinkham's Pharmacy have been found "innocent of conspiracy to violate the narcotics law". The criminal, the drug user, the rabble rousing street and college thug are the pampered pets of society. They must laugh their heads off at their victims and at the police, who, even when trapping them red handed, turns them loose as "innocent". How long can the policeman persuade himself that it is worthwhile to risk his life going in after a criminal when he can be almost certain that the court will find the crook is blameless .

Is it any wonder that crime is increasing in the United States at the fastest pace in history?

Grange Activities

The regular meeting of the Mattapoisett Grange was held last Thursday night in the Grange Hall.

This being the visitation night with Sippican Pomona, the worthy master, Mrs. Mildred LeBaron, welcomed the guests and presented the gavel to the Pomona master, Robert Ouellette, who, with his officers, conducted the meeting and program.

Honored guests were Charles Blank, master of Acushnet Grange; Roland Morris, master of Fairhaven Grange; and Irene Jefferson, master of South Middleboro Grange.

Joseph Ouellette was representative for Sippican Pomona. All spoke briefly.

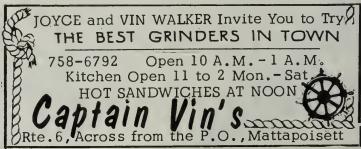

It was voted to hold an open meeting on Thursday, January 1st, when the Subordinate Grange entertains the Juniors.

It was reported that Mrs. Anna Barstow was a patient at St. Luke's Hospital.

Members of the Grange have been invited to Acushnet Grange on February 7th to help celebrate its 47th anniversary.

The Pomona lecturer, Mary Ouellette, presented a much enjoyed Christmas program, "No room at the Inn", with Manuel Roderick of Fairhaven as reader, assisted by the Pomona officers in the chorus, and Diane Spirlet at the piano.

The lecturer's march prize went to Joseph Ouellette and the ways and means basket went to the Pomona master.

Refreshments were served by Mark Breton as chairman, assisted by Mark Harris and Katherine Buckley.

The next meeting, December 18th, will be a program presented by past lecturer, Mrs. Anna Bradley. Members are asked to bring a 50¢ gift for the Christmas tree exchange. The officers are in charge of the refreshments.

During the fourth through the seventh periods when all the students in the Junior-Senior high school are in class the utilization of the building averages 96.6%. Most educators in other schools feel that 80% utilization is the ultimate attainable in a secondary school which offers a modern curriculum such as does Old Rochester. During these periods as many as 220 students can not be scheduled for classes and must be kept in the auditorium where a makeshift study hall is established since there is no other space available.

A study of the report vividly demonstrates the need for the overlapping session presently in effect. Classes for the junior high ages were removed from the first three periods and placed in three new periods at the end of the regular seven period day. If one adds these three periods back together it is obvious that from 107-113% of the actual space available would be needed to even theoretically fit every class in. Add to this observation the fact that many instructional spaces are specially equipped single purpose rooms, such as, typewriting rooms, the printing shop, the home economics dining room, etc. These rooms can not be satisfactorily used for regular academic instruction. Add to these complicating factors the observation that the curriculum is divided into five bands according to whether the student is in a Distributive Education Program, or in a Shop Program, or one of the three levels of college preparatory work which also includes a number of elective courses for honors candidates. At this point, the layman must wonder how it is possible to schedule over a thousand students without major conflicts. With the aid of a computer and hours of work, the principal has managed this seemingly impossible task so that each student is pursuing a course of study designed to fulfill his or her special requirements.

Ironically, the overlapping session schedule causes some classrooms to be empty during the first three periods when there are only about 600 students in the building and during the last three periods when only the junior high students are in class. This three period spread in scheduling is caused by a school bus problem. After the buses deliver the senior high school students, they return to the towns and bring the elementary age students to their respective schools. By the time they have made a limited appeal, such as advanced mechanical drawing or honors candidates in the college preparatory areas. He also noted that the school committee in planning for the 1970-71 school year is reviewing a number of these courses of limited appeal to see if any of them should be dropped. Other alternatives being considered to relieve the overcrowding is the addition of temporary classrooms, dividing some of the classrooms in the present building and even dividing some of the office space in the present building into smaller units and the possibility of continuing the overlapping schedule.

JURORS CHOSEN

Two Mattapoisett jurors have been chosen. Robert H. Humphrey of Depot Street has been selected for the grand jury begining January 5, 1970 at 9 A.M. in Plymouth. Marcus L. Foster of Aucoot Road has been picked for the criminal session beginning January 5, 1970 at 9 A.M. in Brockton.

conduct a door-to-door sale of ball point pens next Sunday afternoon. Mr. Raymond A. Covill, committee chairman, explained at the committee meeting on Monday that the size of the troop has almost doubled since it was started a year ago. Eighteen new boys have joined during 1969, which has resulted in an immediate need to raise funds for the purchase of more tents and equipment in order that all the boys in the troop may enjoy a camping experience.

The ball point "souvenir" pen bears the Town Seal and the name of the town. It is retractable, and the top, tip, cartridge and clip are made of metal. It compares with a retail pen value of $.79 to $1.50. The boys will offer the pens for sale at
